The Camera Never Lies... Prevention is the Answer

Property owners today face an on-going challenge when it comes to protecting their personal property and family. Sources of risk come in the form of burglary, vandalism, child predators, and accidents. Monitoring your premises can give you peace of mind especially when it comes to protecting your family.

- Reduce Vandalism and Burglary
 - Monitor your residence to deter criminals from vandalizing your property.
 - A sign in the yard, a sticker on the window, or a visual of a piece of home security equipment located around your home is often the first sign for a person that is trying to break into your home to move along to another home.
- Improve Family and Child Safety
 - Your family, whether it's one, three, or ten other people, is your most valuable asset. Members of your family, including your spouse, your children, or your parents cannot be replaced.
- Remote Surveillance
 - Monitor your residence anywhere you have an internet connection to make sure your children, property, pets, etc. are safe.
 - Monitor your sleeping newborn child from your TV, computer or cell phone.
 - Monitor your pool to help prevent possible drowning incidents
 - Monitor your second home property to make sure everything is okay while you are away.
- Deter Intruders
 - By monitoring your front entrance, you can see who is at your front door at all times.
 - Everyone has items in their home from a home theater system to family heirlooms that are treasured. Some of those are considered priceless in the emotional ties that they hold. No matter which type of priceless they are, there is no reason why they should go unprotected.
- Reduce Homeowner's Insurance Costs
 - Check with your Homeowner's insurance company to see what discounts they offer when your home security system is installed.

- "As a property manager for several resort properties, we need to take every measure possible to protect the properties and provide added safety for our condo owners and the weekly renters. Last spring installed a MonitorClosely.com Digital Surveillance. It proved to be an excellent choice. During the first season with the new system, we were able to catch of kids vandalizing the property. Emergency crews used the surveillance cameras to check on tenants were trapped in an elevator during a power outage.

addition, we saved the condo association a significant amount of money because they did not have to hire a security guard as did in years past. After witnessing first hand how beneficial a quality surveillance system can be, we are currently pursuing the installation of MonitorClosely.com systems in some of our other properties."
